

Individual Supportive Employment (SE) with Long Term Vocational Supports (LTVS) YP630 / YM645

State-Funded Billable Service

Service Definition and Required Components

Supported Employment (SE) is a person-centered, individualized, evidence-based support service that provides assistance with choosing, acquiring, and maintaining competitive paid employment in the community for individuals ages 16 and older for whom employment has not been achieved and/or has been interrupted or intermittent. This service shall be provided by Employment Support Professionals (ESPs) who are trained in national standards that support the varying needs of individuals and promote community inclusion and employment success.

The Supported Employment model is comprised of two phases:

- (1) Supported Employment-the intensive “supported” phase that includes: a) Community-based assessments, job sampling, job shadowing & participation in business-led internship training programs; b) Job development (securing a job in the community or the development of a consumer-led micro-enterprise or small business) and/or on-site job training (including the development of natural supports) to achieve stable employment.
- (2) Long Term Vocational Supports-the “maintenance” phase of keeping a job; providing critical elements of phase 1, as long and as often as the person needs the assistance to retain employment. This includes community integration skills and fostering natural supports that allow the individual to keep his or her job.

This service requires the use of a variety of approaches to Supported Employment as cited in field-based research. SE approaches are implemented in order to assist individuals in securing competitive employment in the community that fits their particular needs, interests, and skills while supporting them in ways that enable workplace success; this includes self-employment and business-led internships that lead to jobs. Competitive Employment is defined as jobs that pay at least minimum wage, which anyone can apply for and are not set aside for persons with disabilities (this may include seasonal or temp jobs).

SE services promote the North Carolina vision of Employment First: “Employment in the general workforce is the first and preferred outcome in the provision of publicly funded services for all citizens with disabilities regardless of level of disability, in a job of their choosing with supports and accommodations provided as necessary to achieve and maintain employment.”

Core Values:

- Person-centered and informed choices
- Integrated, community employment
- Jobs that promote self-determination, recovery, resiliency and self-sufficiency
- Jobs that reduce stigma by enabling individuals to work side-by-side with people in their local communities
- Jobs that promote careers, financial wellness, and asset development
- Competitive wages on employer payroll or consumer-owned business or micro-enterprise
- Development of personal support networks and natural supports as needed
- Long term and flexible job supports that change based on the individual’s needs

Collaboration with Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services (DVRS): Individuals must have informed choice of whether to receive Phase 1 Supported Employment services through DVRS or an LME/MCO credentialed provider. This must be done in a collaborative and prompt manner where the timeliness of engagement process does not disrupt a person’s motivation or access to supports in seeking employment (for example, the person is shown a crosswalk of the benefits/options, participates in discussion, speaks to an SE provider or visits a job setting, and the person makes his or her own decision.)

LTVS is only provided by this service definition; therefore this service and funds must also be available to all individuals that have completed SE phase 1 through DVR, as per 10A NCAC 27G .5801.

Phase 1: Supported Employment

Supported Employment services are supports to participants who, because of their disabilities, need intensive on-going support to obtain and maintain an individual job in competitive employment, or self-employment. Employment must be obtained in an integrated work setting in the general workforce where an individual is compensated at or above the minimum wage, but not less than the customary wage and level of benefits paid by the employer for the same or similar work performed by individuals without disabilities.

Supported employment may also include support to establish or maintain self-employment, including home-based self-employment. Supported employment services are individualized and may include any combination of the following services: vocational/job-related discovery or assessment, person-centered employment planning, job placement, job development, negotiation with prospective employers, job analysis, job carving, training and systematic instruction, job coaching, benefits support, training and planning, limited transportation and transportation training, asset development and career advancement services, and other workplace support services including services not specifically related to job skill training that enable the participant to be successful in integrating into the job setting.

Critical elements of Supported Employment include:

- 1. Individualized and Rapid Development of the Employment Plan (including Rapid Search for a Competitive Job)
 - a. Taking on a “Just Do It” Approach
 - i. Urgency in Career Planning, Job Development and service delivery
 - ii. Employment Plan within 30-days
 - iii. Initial employment assessment and the first in-person employer contact (by employment specialist or consumer) should occur within 30 days of program entry
 - iv. Developing support networks, natural supports, and family outreach, based on the individual’s choice
 - b. Networking with employers, employer groups and trade associations
 - c. Clinical team integration (with ESPs as members of a clinical team), or ongoing collaboration with the individual’s treatment team for clinical consultation, or for the development of behavioral health support services
 - d. Disclosure – ESPs assist individuals in making the decision as to whether they will disclose their disability to an employer, ensuring that individuals have all necessary information available on the potential ramifications of their choices, and promoting their preferences and self-determination.
 - e. Peer mentorship and support focusing on employment and work issues

2. Career Planning & Information Gathering

- a. Person-centered career planning or discovery includes gathering information about work preferences, experiences, skills, current adjustment, strengths, and personal contacts. This may also include business-led internship training and development of a business plan for a consumer-led business or micro-enterprise, resulting in a statement of individual career goals and preferences.
- b. Work-based vocational assessments are ongoing. Initial assessments are updated whenever new information from experience in competitive work becomes available
- c. May include some community-based assessment, job sampling and job shadowing in compliance with USDOL regulations
- d. Work Incentives and personalized benefits counseling, including assistance with accessing eligibility of the NCDMA Health Coverage for Workers with Disabilities (NC's "Medicaid Buy-In" program) or referral to professional Benefits Counselors.
- e. Participation in mock interviews and role-plays and development of resumes, portfolio of work experience and cover letters for job applications
- f. Addressing barriers to employment such as having a criminal background, a lack of work history, and limited housing and transportation availability
- g. Identifying and addressing job accommodations needed to support the individual's Employment Plan.
- h. Identifying and addressing Assistive Technology needs; it is estimated that 10% of individuals served in SE/LTVS may benefit from AT to help with job duties.
- i. Reviewing potential educational opportunities including retraining and vocational/technical schools

3. Job Search and Job Development Activities

- a. Using and building community networks throughout the job search.
- b. Frequent employer outreach and presentation of the SE program to secure job interviews for individuals served.
- c. Outreach to employers including learning the employer's needs, communicating benefits of hiring, and describing the match between the job seeker's strengths and skills and the employer's needs. Includes negotiating with employers to create or restructure jobs.
- d. Developing and updating resumes, reference letters and career portfolio
- e. Assisting individuals in obtaining information about a diversity of job types from a diversity of employers, in order to ensure that job placements are individualized to each person's work preferences and strengths.

4. Job Entry and Job Site Training and Support

- a. Provision of intensive supports, including face-to-face contacts, which may include daily support-[eventually transitioning to weekly support] based on the job performance and skill acquisition as reported by the individual/employer.
- b. As needed, job design support including environmental analysis, task analysis and accommodations or training supports required and development of a business plan if micro-enterprise is developed.
- c. Job training (including on-the-job skills training and training provided to managers and co-workers to facilitate skills acquisition and the development of natural supports)
- i. Conduct travel training or assist with identification of transportation as necessary
- ii. Collaborate with other agencies for clothing, uniforms, shoes, and teach grooming skills required by job or employer.
- d. Address Job Needs:
 - i. Identify and determine action/training plan for addressing transportation, benefit, non-work schedules, work dress/uniform requirements, and other employment support needs.
- e. Identifying and facilitating natural supports

- i. Enhance an individual's social and natural supports by developing social network assessments, social network enhancement plans, and self-advocacy training for individuals. Work directly with employers, coworkers, family, and friends to strengthen existing network ties, develop new network relationships, and improve reciprocity.

5. Job Support and Transition to Phase 2: Long Term Vocational Supports

- a. Planning and transitioning to Long Term Vocational Supports phase 2 of SE
- b. Job supports are individualized and vary from person to person based upon need and desire.
- c. ESPs provide less intensive supports, including face to face contacts, fading or transitioning as the person chooses in their person-centered employment plan.
- d. Developing a contingency plan for a behavioral health crisis, layoffs and/or terminations from employment that includes immediate job search plans and alternative employment-related activities and supports.
- e. Other supports might include phone calls, meetings with employers to obtain extra feedback, consultation with behavioral health service providers when needed, development of self-monitoring strategies and plans, limited on-the-job coaching to learn new duties, when job duties change.

6. Collection and Use of Data

- a. The SE program collects and summarizes data on consumer outcomes, including the number of individuals who have obtained jobs, as well as hours worked, wages and benefits earned. (See more detail below under the section, Expected Clinical Outcomes)
- b. The program uses outcome data to identify areas in which they need to improve their services, as well as areas where they are succeeding and need to be sure to maintain their program strengths.

Phase 2: Long Term Vocational Support

Long Term Vocational Support (LTVS) Services begins after Phase 1 of Supported Employment ends either through this service definition or through the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services.

Individuals needing LTVS after completing the DVRS Phase 1 SE sponsored services must have LTVS in place when the DVRS services end to avoid lapse in services. Generally during the final weeks of training once an individual is demonstrating competency on the job, the individual will transition to LTVS. Transitioning to LTVS will take place during the last month of Phase 1, DVRS, during which the ESP will collaborate with LTVS staff (when these services are provided by separate staff in a CRP) to transition services by meeting jointly with the employer and individual to assure that LTVS are coordinated and seamless.

Transitions must be individualized and based on the person's support needs and preferences. Phase 1 SE through this definition references national standards which indicate that the SE provider should work with the person to make the transition to LTVS generally after one year of stable SE.¹ However, achieving one year of employment in a job should not automatically trigger a transition out of SE services.

¹ Becker, Swanson, Bond, and Merrens (2011, May). Evidence-Based Supported Employment Fidelity Review Manual (2nd Ed.)

LTVS is an individualized service that is provided as often and as long as the person needs it with the purpose of maintaining a job, providing job intervention, and developing skills for promotion and career development that lead to personal growth and financial stability. The individual participates in choosing the type of service and support he or she receives, and the individual has the right to decline this service at any time.

Often, an individual may need or may choose to return to Phase 1 of Supported Employment to, for example, change jobs or to upgrade or enhance skills in the current job. The return to Phase 1 of Supported Employment should be flexible, seamless, and individualized to address work performance, social interactions that negatively impact employment success, conflict resolution with coworkers/supervisors, maintenance of job skills, and to retain motivation.

ESPs continue to stay in regular contact with individuals receiving LTVS (and when appropriate, with the employer) without arbitrary time limits, as these supports are based on the individual needs of the person.

ESPs should encourage and empower an individual to be as independent and self-sufficient as possible while still providing a level of collaboration and supports, as needed by the individual.

Critical elements of Long Term Vocational Support include:

- Career and educational goals clarification; for example:
 - ○ Ongoing career planning and development supports that expand opportunities for professional growth (wages, hours or days of work, satisfaction with work and/or exposure to alternative work options and opportunities).
 - ○ Supports for increased skills through reenrollment in higher education or credentialing and certificate programs
 - ○ Through individual interviews and counseling, monitor satisfaction with employment, and determine level of interest and opportunities available for advancing with current employer, and/or changing employers for career advancement.
- • Fade intensive on-site job coaching, to a level that minimizes support from the ESPs, but ensures that there is sufficient support is in place for ongoing employment retention and success.
- ○ Provide and assist employer with short term on the job retraining based on changing job requirements and any performance issues identified.
- Securing job accommodations due to disability;
- Decision support regarding on-the-job disclosure due to disability;
- Facilitate or provide peer mentorship and support focusing on employment and work issues
- • Building skills for coping with work problems; for example:
 - ○ Absences, personal leave, dealing with a behavioral health crisis or other crisis
 - ○ Conflict resolution skills with coworkers, customers, supervisors
 - ○ Having a contingency plan for layoffs and terminations from employment that include immediate job search plans and alternative activities and supports.
- Continued coordination of work incentives, benefits counseling and assistance with Social Security & NCDMA Health Coverage For Workers With Disabilities;
- Ensure that the individual is reporting earnings to Social Security and any other public benefit programs as required (i.e., community supported housing assistance)
- Teaching budgeting skills, financial literacy and asset development
- Collaboration with other service providers and supports as needed to engage behavioral health, as well as residential and transportation services.

Table 1. SE Approaches
The following evidence-based and best practice approaches encompass all the critical elements of SE/LTVS described above. It is preferred that providers develop their program by being trained in and offering these various approaches in practice to provided person-centered and individualized/customized services and meet the variety of consumer needs. These models include: Supported Employment, Customized Employment, Self-Employment (Micro Enterprises/Small Business), and Business-Led Internships
1	Supported Employment (SE) is an evidence-based practice model of employment for people with significant disabilities. Traditional SE has been researched since the early 1980's to the early 1990's to community-based employment. Its core components are described in the critical elements phase I of SE and phase 2 of LTVS. Most recently, research on SE from 1996-present has led to the development and development of fidelity measurements and toolkits through the Dartmouth Institute for Health Care Policy and Law, which is endorsed by SAMHSA. The Supported Employment Evidence-Based Toolkit (2010) is the 2010's of person-centered and individualized approach to assist with choosing, acquiring, and maintaining paid employment in the community. Clear and documented advantages include higher wages and benefits, increased opportunities to interact with individuals without disabilities, improvement in participant's adaptive behavior skills, and greater employee satisfaction (McGaughey & Mank, 2010). Supported Employment is based on the principles of inclusion and full citizenship which include: • Zero Exclusion • Integrated, competitive employment • Flexible supports • Long Term Vocational Supports • Choice • Engagement of personal support networks
2	Customized Employment (CE) is a flexible process designed to personalize the employment relationship between a job candidate and an employer in a way that meets the needs of both. It is based on an individualized match between the strengths, conditions, and interests of a job candidate and the identified business needs of an employer. CE utilizes an individualized approach to employment planning and job development-one person at a time, one employer at a time (ODEP, 2011). CE was developed and fostered by the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Disability Employment Policy and is an evidence-informed best practice model (Federal Register, 2002). CE can be provided to any individual with a complex life that poses challenges for achieving competitive employment who may have limited job skills or face other barriers to employment. CE core principles include: • Negotiation with employers -employers voluntarily negotiate specific job duties or expectations with the job seeker; • Customized job tasks -the distinct job tasks are carved from existing job descriptions, restructured from one or more jobs, or created so that they match the interests and skills of the job seeker, and so that they also meet a specific workplace needs of the employer; thus the resultant job descriptions are "customized;" • Person-centered services -the job seeker is the primary source of information and guidance about jobs to explore in the job market; • Client control -the job seeker, not the ES or counselor, controls the planning process; • Discovery -this process is used to reveal assessment of the job seeker's interests, skills, and needs (but can be supplemented --not replaced --by traditional assessment); and • Jobs have the potential for advancement -identified jobs should have potential for advancement even if the job seeker was previously unemployed, underemployed, or never held a job.
3	Self-Employment, Micro-Enterprise, Small Business: Across the nation, self-employment is increasingly recognized as a viable employment option for people with disabilities. Self-employment uses a strength-based, not deficit-based outlook and a person is not required to "get ready" to start a small business. To develop a micro-enterprise or small business, a customized approach is applied to assist an individual or individuals who are partnering, to identify their strengths and needed supports and to assemble funding recourses to execute their business plan. Starting a micro-enterprise or small business includes developing a business plan, a solid marketing plan, getting training on management skills, and securing startup capital. "A functioning business plan assists the individual in identifying personal and rehabilitative support needs such as flexible work hours, assistive technology services and devices, bookkeeping services, and transportation. The development of a plan also is important for the identification of funding: Small Business Association (SBA) backed small business loans, grants through state development agencies, loans through non-profit lending sources, credit card advances, and financial support from friends and families. Individuals who are receiving rehabilitative services and benefits such as Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) may consider using Social Security Work Incentives to underwrite start-up or expansion costs." (Startup USA, 2012) Strategies for Exploration and the Discovery Process include: • Writing a Business Plan •

Provider Requirements: There should be an ongoing, relationship between the provider and the SE/LTVS program which promotes competitive employment and interventions outlined in the individual's employment plan. The provider encourages individuals served to consider employment, and referrals for supported employment are solicited by many sources. Providers shall collaborate and coordinate with appropriate behavioral health providers, families, natural and peer supports, housing specialists, LME-MCO staff, transportation agencies and other community service providers who support the individual.

Organizational Employment First emphasis:

- Agency Focus on Employment First and Competitive Employment – providers shall promote competitive employment in multiple ways and collaborate with other agency services to, for example, ensure questions about employment are included at intake, promote employment supports by posting flyers within clinical residential sites, tracking employment as an outcome of all services within the Agency (not just within the SE/LTVS program).
- Executive Team Support for SE – agency leadership is engaged with SE program at various levels, from quality assurance activity and outcomes review, to participation in SE leadership meetings.
- Providers partnering with the NC Business Leadership Network to focus on a “pull” system where employers engage with providers to seek out talent, increase market share, and supplier diversity.

SE/LTVS providers must demonstrate that they meet competency through experience providing employment supports. It is preferred that providers also be DVR-approved CRP providers per 10A NCAC 89D .0204 Community Rehabilitation Program Standards.

These policies and procedures set forth the administrative, financial, clinical, quality improvement, and information services infrastructure necessary to provide services. Provider organizations shall demonstrate that they meet these standards by being credentialed by the LME-MCO. As part of the credentialing process, the provider must notify the LME-MCO of the therapies, practices, or models that the provider has chosen to implement. Additionally, within one year of enrollment as a provider, the organization shall achieve national accreditation with at least one of the designated accrediting agencies.

The organization is responsible for obtaining authorization from the LME-MCO for services identified in the PCP and/or Employment Plan. The SE/LTVS provider organization shall comply with all applicable federal and state requirements.

Staffing Requirements: An SE/LTVS program provider agency must have sufficient staffing, known as Employment Support Professionals (ESPs), to meet the varying needs of individuals and promote community inclusion and employment success. All staff meet as a team regularly, at least monthly, to discuss cases, job leads, and other issues. Staffing requirements are outlined in the table below, followed by a description of roles: Lead Employment Support Professional: Understanding of the approaches described in Table 1 is required. Specialization is encouraged in regards to specific job development areas as: job coaching, career planning, and business relations. In addition to the SE/LTVS critical elements mentioned above, the full-time Lead ESP is responsible for:

Employment Peer Mentor: The Employment Peer Mentor’s lived experience, as a recipient or former recipient of services, provides expertise that professional training cannot replicate. Employment Peer Mentors offer hope and motivation by drawing from their own employment experiences and resiliency to encourage other individuals to seek and maintain employment and community integration.

Employment Peer Mentors may provide critical elements of SE/LTVS as needed, do not hold their own caseloads, but can support any and all individuals enrolled in the program as needed. The responsibilities of the Employment Peer Mentor must be focused on the following:

- Promoting self-determination, recovery, self-advocacy, and self-direction; assisting individuals in identifying strengths; wellness goals; setting objectives, and identifying barriers
- Attending treatment team meetings with individual to promote the individual's use of self-directed advocacy tools; teaching individuals techniques for developing or rewriting PCPs and/or Employment Plans how to ask for appropriate services in community; supporting the individual through the employment planning process.

- Sharing their own personal story to model how to choose, get, and keep meaningful employment
- Supporting individuals to make informed decisions about supported employment and build community connections.
- Supporting the vocational choices individuals make and support them in overcoming job-related concerns and building social skills in the community that will enhance job acquisition and tenure.

Additional ESP: Understanding of the approaches described in Table 1 is required. Specialization is encouraged in regards to specific job development areas as: job coaching, career planning, and business relations. In addition to the SE/LTVS critical elements mentioned above, ESPs are responsible for:

- Developing the Employment Plan for individuals assigned to him or her.
- Collaborating with outside behavioral health providers, families, natural supports, housing, transportation and other community service providers who support the individual
- Coordinating services and participating in the individual's Person Centered Planning process
- Developing holistic, integrated interventions
- Identifying services, resources, and accommodations as needed to assist individuals who are Deaf and Hard of Hearing, those with Limited English Proficiency (LEP), and those who are blind or visually impaired.

Training and Certification Requirements All staff in Table 2 must be trained in a DHHS approved "SE/LTVS 101" curriculum within 8 months of implementation of this policy or upon each staff's date of hire. Additional training is required for Employment Peer Mentors. Peers must participate in DHHS approved Vocational Peer Mentoring curriculum within 12 months of hire date.

This DHHS approved curriculum meets nationally accepted professional skills and competencies to ensure high quality services and high outcomes for individuals. Additionally, these trainings enable ESPs to earn the designation of Certified Employment Support Professional (CESP) by passing the national examination established by the Employment Support Professional Certification Council (ESPCC) founded by APSE (Association of People Supporting Employment First).

It is highly recommended that all staff in Table 2 work to become a CESP to demonstrate that national competencies for evidence based practices have been met. ESPs are also encouraged to seek out other national credentials such as the Certified Rehabilitation Counselor (CRC) credentials.

For each year of employment, all staff in Table 2 must receive 5 or more hours of additional training and should include specialty approaches for the implementation of ethical, person-centered, best practice SE/LTVS per population served. Training may be in the form of locally provided training, webinars, or regional/national conferences and must be documented. Examples include:

- Dartmouth Individual Placement and Support (IPS) Supported Employment Training
- Customized Employment
- Self-Employment
- Business-Led Internships
- College of Employment Supports
- Other trainings that can assist in enhancing employment outcomes: -Advocacy/Self-Determination -Asset Development and Financial Wellness -Assistive Technology -Benefits Counseling and Social Security Work Incentives -Budgeting/Money Management -Business and Employer Relations -Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services (CLAS)

- Independent Living Skills
- Limited English Proficiency (LEP), blind or visually impaired, and deaf and hard of hearing accommodations

- RENEW transition planning and support model
- SOAR (SSI-SSDI/Outreach/Access/ Recovery) Stepping Stones to Recovery Training
- Supervising NC Certified Peer Support Specialists Training (UNC BRHP)
- Tenancy Support training (DHHS)
- Youth in Transition and Supported Employment/Supported Education
- Trauma-Informed care
- Wellness Management and Recovery Interventions (such as WRAP, IMR/WMR)

Program Fidelity Monitoring

Programs shall be evaluated according to standardized fidelity measures from the approaches outlined in this definition. These measures evaluate the extent to which defining elements of the program model are being implemented, and those inconsistent with the program model are not being implemented.

Fidelity protocols will be determined by DHHS and measurement scales that match approaches implemented and population served will be used (for example, the Dartmouth IPS-SE Fidelity scales for providers serving MH/SA). The aim of these evaluations is not only to ensure that the service is being implemented as intended, but also to provide a mechanism for quality improvement feedback.

The DHHS will also track adherence to the model and approaches by reviewing annual performance outcomes from providers and through their participation in the administration of the appropriate fidelity assessments.

Service Type and Setting

SE/LTVS is a periodic type of support service under NC Administrative Code T10:14V.2300.

Employment staff typically spends 65% or more of total scheduled work hours in the community.

Services are provided in the most integrated setting, one that “enables individuals with disabilities to interact with nondisabled persons to the fullest extent possible, and are community-based within the individual’s defined ‘community’, i.e., where the person chooses to live, work and play” (ADA/Olmstead, 2011).

- Services may be direct and/or indirect and rehabilitative in nature, providing job placement, individual and employer supports.
- Services are provided at the individual’s job location, home and other community settings.
- Services are not provided in facility-based settings or affirmative industries.

Program Requirements

The activities and services of SE/LTVS shall be driven by the PCP and/or Employment Plan.

- Each ESP (with the exception of the Employment Peer Mentor) shall have a range of 20-30 individuals in their caseload, with this varying depending on where the individual is in their SE/LTVS phase.
- Employment Peer Mentors generally are not responsible for a specific caseload rather they assist in supporting consumers in their efforts to become employed and retain employment.
- ESPs primarily provide only employment services; however, providers may need to spend some of their time providing clinical home activities especially when the populations served are individuals with substantial disabilities such as SPMI and IDD.
- ESPs provide coverage for each other as needed.

Units are billed in 15-minute increments.

Eligibility Criteria

The individual is age (16) sixteen and older and who:

A. Has an Axis I or Axis II diagnosis of Mental Illness, Substance Use, and/or Intellectual/Developmental Disability, including Autism and Traumatic Brain Injury.

AND

B. Experiences difficulties in at least one of the following areas:

- 1 Functional impairment
- 2 Crisis intervention/diversion/aftercare needs, and/or
3. At risk of placement in a more restrictive setting

AND

C. Expresses the desire to work or has an established pattern of unemployment, underemployment, or sporadic employment; and requires assistance to obtain employment in addition to what is typically available from the employer to maintain competitive employment because of functional limitations and behaviors associated with the individual's diagnosis.

Entrance Process

Per the evidence-based model, there is a Zero-Exclusion criterion meaning that individuals are not excluded from receiving and engaging in SE/LTVS services as a result of job readiness factors such as active substance use, history of violent behavior, criminal background issues, cognitive impairments, treatment or medication non-compliance, or personal presentation.

Any individual who expresses a desire to work and is eligible can receive SE/LTVS services with wrap-around supports and collaboration with other behavioral health services as needed.

Employment specialists offer to help with another job when one has ended, regardless of the reason that the job ended or number of jobs held.

Continued Service Criteria

The individual shall continue receiving SE/LTVS services if they meet at least one of the following requirements:

- (1) The individual has made little progress in meeting employment goals and there is documentation that supports that continuation of SE services will be effective in meeting employment goals identified in service plan
- (2) The individual is making progress in meeting employment goals, but the interventions identified in the service plan need to be modified to achieve competitive employment,
- (3) The individual has obtained a job and desires Phase 2 Long-Term Supports as identified in the Service Plan.

Utilization Management

There is no prior authorization required for the first 64 units (16 hours) of SE/LTVS services for the initial engagement of the individual (for both SE and LTVS phases). Authorization for continued services must occur after the 64 units and services may cover up to 12 months for the initial authorization period. To continue SE/LTVS, reauthorizations should be based on the level of intensity required to acquire stable employment or interventions required for continued employment.

Services are based on consumer choice and are expected to achieve the specific employment and rehabilitative goals detailed in the individual's Person Centered Plan.

This is an outpatient support service and does not require concurrent case management or other service.

Service Exclusions and Limitations

An individual may receive SE/LTVS services from only one SE/LTVS provider organization during any active authorization period for this service.

The phase 1 SE service may not be provided to individuals who are actively funded by DVRS to meet their needs under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, or P.L. 94-142. An individual referred from DVRS Supported Employment must receive Phase 2 LTVS from this service definition if they so choose.

Service delivery to individuals other than the recipient may be covered only when the activity is directed exclusively toward the benefit of that recipient (for example, small business models).

SE/LTVS shall not be provided during the same authorization period as Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) or the Medicaid Innovations Waiver for individuals with IDD.
